'Luxury Castaway Island Beach Resort...'

Had Robinson Crusoe been a yuppie, Fundu Lagoon is the sort of place he would have created! Described as 'safari-chic' by more than one visitor, Fundu Lagoon is a luxury castaway island located on a remote beach. It whispers romance, style and rustic sophistication. The main lodge is tucked away among the trees and bush just off the beach at the end of a 200m long jetty. The 14 luxury tented bungalows are hidden in the tropical island vegetation at the edge of the beach or along the gentle hill slopes above the ocean.

location

- Fundu Lagoon is situated on the remote Wambaa Peninsula on southwest coast of Pemba Island.
- A 1hr 30min flight, drive and boat trip from Zanzibar.
- A 20 min drive from Pemba Island's Chake Chake Airport to the port at Wesha followed by a 30 min boat trip to Fundu Lagoon.

accommodation

- The 14 luxury tented bungalows are set under makuti (palm thatch) roofs on wooden decks. Each has a spectacular view over the ocean.
- The rooms are large, well decorated and equipped with large double or twin beds, mosquito nets, ceiling and standing fans, mini-bar, and indoor and outdoor seating areas.
- Each has an en-suite bathroom with hot water shower, toilet and basin, cotton bathrobes and aromatherapy oils and scents.
- The rooms are connected to the main buildings by sandy walkways.
- Some rooms are situated along the beachfront with the remaining on an elevated position overlooking the ocean.
- 1 Beach Suite has its own private chill out deck and plunge pool.
- The one 'feature' that may take a night or two to get used to is the sometimes rowdy, often noisy but always harmless activity from the local bird and bush-baby population.

restaurants & bars

Dining at Fundu Lagoon can best be described as a culinary safari! The dinner venue changes each night of the week. It may be on the beach under a canopy of stars, or on the deck lit by paraffin lanterns or in the boma-like restaurant with an open fire crackling nearby.

Lunch and dinner are delicious three course meals. This is an island, so fish is often on the menu, complimented by fresh vegetables and the spices for which the Zanzibar Islands are famous. The menus are more international than traditional, which makes a welcome change from some of the other resorts in the islands. Breakfast is a reasonably healthy affair with fresh fruit and yoghurt and/or a cooked breakfast if you wish.

The Jetty Bar is located, not surprisingly, out along the amazing 200m-long jetty. Here the friendly barman will whip up just about any exotic cocktail you can think of.

families

Fundu Lagoon is young and sophisticated but definitely not suitable for young children.

Fundu Lagoon was designed with the young, stylish and romantically inclined in mind! There is little question that this beach lodge rates among the finest romantic destinations on the African coast, if not the Indian Ocean. The combination of stunning location, elegant décor and wonderful service makes this hard to beat. If you are looking for romantic retreat in the islands, Fundu Lagoon will come close to fulfilling all your requirements.
