'The ultimate remote island hideaway...'

Manta Reef has a relaxed feel with a thatched lodge consisting of a reception area, lounge bar and dining room, and separate timber guest cabins built on stilts against the hill - all overlooking the ocean. Further down on the beachfront you'll find the dive centre and beach bar. This is the ideal spot to laze on a hammock with a cocktail in hand!

location

Manta Reef Lodge is situated along a beach called Panga ya Watoro on the Kigomasha Peninsula in northern Pemba. It's a two-hour drive from Pemba airport, situated near Chake Chake.

restaurants & bars

Meals are varied and generous with fresh fruits and vegetables sourced locally, as well as fish and other seafood.

Typically, a full English breakfast is served with fruit, crepes, toast, jams and juice. If breakfast in bed on a paradise island sounds good you can ask for it to be delivered to your room. Lunch consists of salads, vegetables, a main dish and fruit for dessert. A buffet meal is provided in the evenings, usually with soup, salads, vegetables, seafood (often fish, crab, calamari and prawns), chicken and pasta or rice. A cake is baked daily for dessert.

There are no other restaurants in this area, so your rate includes all meals at the lodge (with extra charges for lobster or giant prawns).
